The ancestry herewith being entirely a Massachusetts one and references being made in several cases to the dates at which a man became a "freeman," an explanation as to what a freeman was, as well as the nature of the oath that a freeman took, may be of interest. The oath was of allegiance to the government and a man was obliged to subscribe to it in order to be able to vote, the first requisite being that he was a member of the church. At a meeting of the General Court held at Boston, May 18, 1631, it was "ordered and agreed that for time to come noe man shalbe admitted to the freedom of this body polliticke, but such as are members of some of the churches within the lynitts of the same." (Mass. Colony Records, ed. Shurtleff, 1-87.)

Att a Gen^rall Courte, holden att Boston, May 14th, 1634,

"It was agreed & ordered, that the former oath of ffreemen shalbe revoked, soe farr as it is dissonant from the oath of ffreemen here vnder written, & that those that receaved the former oath shall stand bound noe further thereby, to any intent or purpose, then this newe oath tyes those nowe takes y^e same."

The Oath of a Freeman.

"I, A. B., being by Gods providence, an inhabitant & ffreeman within the jurisdiccon of the comonweale doe freely acknowledge my selfe to be subject to the govern^t thereof, & therefore doe heere sweare, by the greate & dreadfull name of the euerlyveing God, that I wilbe true & faithfull to the same, & will accordingly yeilde assistance & support therevnto, with my pson & estate, as in equity I am bound, & will also truely indeav^r to maintaine & preserue all the libertyes & previlidges thereof, submitting my selfe to the wholesome lawes & orders made & established by the same; and furth^r, that I will not plott nor practise any evill against it, nor consent to any that shall soe doe, but will time discover & reveale the same to lawfull authority nowe here established, for the speedy preventing thereof. Moreover, I doe solemnely bynde myselfe, in the sight of God, that when I shalbe called to giue my voice touching such matter of this state, wherein ffreeman are to deale, I will giue my vote & suffrage, as I shall iudge in myne owne conscience may best conduce & tend to the Publique weale of the body, without respect of psons, or fav^r of any man. Soe helps mee God, in the Lord Jesus Christ." (Mass. Colony Records, ed. Shurtleff, 1-117.)

At a meeting of the General Court, Mar 4, 1634-5, "it is ordered, that the ffreemans oath shalbe gyven to any man of or above the age of 16 yeares, the clause for eleccion of magistrates onely excepted." (Ibid., 1-139.) The reason for the exception was that a man had to be of legal age in order to vote.

184. DEA. JOHN DOANE. He was probably born in England about 1590, but date and place of his marriage are not seen, and he died in Taatham. He was a prominent man in Plymouth as soon as his arrival there about 1630, and was one of the few that bore the courtesy title of "Mr." He was a member of the Council in 1633, but in the record under date of Jan. 2, 1633-4, it is stated: "At this Court M^r John Done, being formerly chosen to the office of a deacon of the church, at the request of the church & himselfe was freed from the office of an Assistant in the comon weale." (Plymouth Colony Records, 1-23.) His services were sought in many ways in the affairs of Plymouth, until his removal with many of the prominent men there to the new settlement of Nauset in 1645, (which in 1651 became Taatham,) and he was influential there, the same as he had been in Plymouth, being a deacon of the church and selectman many years. He was appointed by the Court, June 1, 1663, to solemnize marriages and to administer oaths to witnesses. The name of his widow was Abigail, but there is no proof that she was the mother of his children. (Savage's Genealogical Dictionary; Pope's Pioneers of Mass.; Doane Family, 1902, p. 1 et seq.)

"His death was a serious loss, as his energy of character and firmness in all cases when great decisions was required made him a strong pillar in the youthful settlement." Blake in his "Annals of Dorchester" says: "He was killed by a fall from his horse at y^e S^e end of Boston as he was coming homewards (I think in y^e Evening) his Horse either Running over, or starting at a Cow that lay down in y^e way." He probably came to this side with his parents about 1635, and was brought up in Hingham. He removed to Braintree as early as 1663 and continued to reside there until his death. He held many town offices, Selectman, Moderator, etc., and was a member of important committees, being held in high esteem by his associates. (History of Hingham, 1893, 2-338; 1000 Years of Hubbard History, 1895, p. 156; N. E. Register, 11-299; Braintree Vital Records.)

254. REV. PETER THACHER. He was born at Salem, Mass., married undoubtedly in Boston, and he died in Milton. He graduated at Harvard College in 1671, tutored at the College several years, visited London in 1676, but came back soon, and accepted a call to the Church in Milton, being ordained in September, 1681, continuing in the pastorate until his death, a period of forty-six years. He was one of the most prominent ministers of his day and generation.

His funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. Cotton Mather, and the title of it in print is: "The Comfortable Chambers opened and visited, upon the departure of that Aged and Faithful Servant of God, Mr. Peter Thacher, The Never to be forgotten Pastor of Milton, who made his Flight thither, on December 17, 1727." (N. E. Register, 20-315.) "It was his constant prayer that he might not outlive his usefulness; and this prayer was graciously answered; for he continued almost to the last in full possession of both his physical and intellectual vigour. On the Sunday previous to his death, he preached both parts of the day, and was remarkably fervent and affectionate in all his exercises." (Sprague's Annals of the American Pulpit, 1859, 1-196.) The Boston Weekly Journal of December 23, 1727, had this to say of him: "He was a person of eminent sanctity, of a most courteous and complaisant behavior; cheerful, affable, humble and free of speech to the meanest he met with. He had a great deal of vivacity in his natural genius; which, being tempered with grace and wisdom, appeared very engaging both in his common converse and public performance. In his ordinary conversation there was a vein of piety, agreeably mingled with entertaining turns and passages, an air of freedom and cheerfulness that made it very easy and pleasant in any company. He was an evangelical preacher, delighted in commending Christ to his hearers, and was always earnestly endeavoring to win us over to admire and love him. He was a zealous assertor of the purity and liberty of our evangelical churches. He accounted that only to be pure religion which is purely scriptural; and in no other form of Church order could he see the liberty of the people preserved as in that of this country. He was greatly concerned for this noble interest, the chief design of our fathers hither; though he was full of catholic piety and charity to those of other opinions; and he was much improved in ecclesiastical councils." (Ibid., p. 197.) Making allowance for the laudatory verbiage of the time it can be readily seen that Rev. Mr. Thacher held a commanding place in the estimation of the people of his day. (Savage's Genealogical Dictionary; N. E. Register, 7-90; Salem Vital Records; Milton Vital Records.)

255. THEODORA OXENBRIDGE. First wife of Rev. Peter Thacher. She was born in England and she died in Milton, Mass. (The Oxenbridges, 1860, p. 11; N. E. Register, 7-89; Milton Vital Recs.)

He held town offices in both Yarmouth and Eastham. He made his will Jan. 19, 1682-3, adding a codicil under date of Mar. 5, 1688-9, and it was proved Apr. 16, 1690. "Governour Prence was often employed in other public services of importance. He was of the council of war, Treasurer of the Colony at one time, and often a Commissioner of the United Colonies. His integrity was proverbial, and his industry, energy and sound judgment, rendered him a very useful instrument in conducting the affairs of the rising colony, and would, we think, have made him a respectable public character in a far more considerable community." (Morton's New England's Memorial, Ed. by Davis, 1826, p. 423.) Gov. Prence removed from Plymouth to Duxbury in 1634, and in 1645 to Eastham, but returned to Plymouth in 1663, where he lived until his death. The record of his death in the Plymouth Col. Records is as follows: "Thomas Prence Esquire Gov^r: of the Jurisdiction of New Plymouth, Died March 29, 1673, and was Interred the 8th Aprill following; after hee had served God in the office of Gov^r: sixteen yeares or neare therunto; hee finished his Course in the 73 yeare of his life; hee was a worthy Gentleman very pious; and very able for his office, and faithfull in the Discharge thereof, studious of peace a welwiller to all that feared god, and a terrour to the wicked, his; Death was much lamented.

and his body honorably buried att Plymouth, the Day and years abovementioned." (Savage's Genealogical Dictionary; Pope's Pioneers of Mass.; Mayflower Descendant, 3-203; Brewster Genealogy, 1908, 1-21; Register, 1905, Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames, p. 364.)

315. PATIENCE BREWSTER. First wife of Gov. Thomas Prentiss. She was born in England, and she died in Plymouth, Mass. She came to this country in the ship "Ann" in July, 1623. (Brewster Genealogy, 1908, 1-21.)
322. WILLIAM NICKERSON. He was born in England, married there, and he died in Chatham. He, called of Norwich, Norfolk, England, weaver, aged 33, with wife Anne, aged 28, and four children, were examined Apr. 8, 1637, as desirous of going to Boston in New England, there to inhabit, and they sailed on the ship "John and Dorothy" and arrived in Boston June 30, 1637. He took the oath as a freeman, May 2, 1638. He soon removed to Yarmouth, and was proposed to the Plymouth Colony Court Dec. 1, 1640, taking the oath of fidelity June 1, 1641, and he is found among those in Yarmouth between 16 and 60 able to bear arms in 1643. About Mar. 1, 1657, he removed to Boston in order to enable his wife to care for her parents in their old age, but he returned to Yarmouth prior to Jan. 15, 1661-2. He had bought a tract of land of an Indian Chief prior to or early in 1656, at Monomoy (now Chatham), of which place he was the founder and promoter, and had not obtained the consent of the authorities, which was contrary to law, and litigation ensued over it which lasted many years, and he was in conflict with the authorities, as well as others, many times. "William Nickerson was a man of intelligence and of great energy and strength of will which degenerated into obstinacy. He could not brook opposition nor readily accommodate himself to his neighbors. He was no doubt a religious man, and at Monomoy acted as a religious teacher to the infant settlement, but he could not agree with his Yarmouth brethren. His purchase of land at Monomoy was doubtless in part dictated by a desire of independence and his intention to found a settlement of which he should be the head. His purchase at Monomoy was contrary to a salutary law of the colony, of which he could not have been unaware, although when confronted with its penalty, he claimed ignorance. His persistence in the end, it is true, brought him substantial victory, but his unaccommodating spirit made many years of his life a series of conflicts with the colonial authorities and others, in which he was almost uniformly worsted." (Library of Cape Cod History and Genealogy.

No. 102.) He was a Deputy in 1655. His death occurred between Aug. 30, 1639, date at which he acknowledged a deed, and Sep. 8, 1690, when he is spoken of as dead in a deed given by one of his daughters. (Pope's Pioneers of Mass.; Smith's History of Chatham, p. 55 et seq.)

Wife of William Nickerson. She was born in England and undoubtedly died in Chatham. With her husband she acknowledged a deed May 18, 1686. (Smith's History of Chatham, p. 56; Library of Cape Cod History and Genealogy, No. 102, p. 12.)

He was born in England, married there, and he died in Malden, Mass. He had permit from Plymouth Court to dwell at Mattacheese (Yarmouth) Sep. 3, 1638, and he was a town officer there in 1641-2. He removed to Lynn, then to Malden, Mass., where he lived until his death. His will was dated Feb. 11, 1653-4, and proved Apr. 4, 1654. When he died in 1654 his wife was Margaret, who, it seems clear, was his second wife and not the mother of his children. (Pope's Pioneers of Mass.; Library of Cape Cod History and Genealogy, No. 43; N. E. Register, 16-75.)

336. RICHARD SEARS.

He was probably born in England, most likely married on this side, and he died in Yarmouth, Mass. His name is first found upon the records of Plymouth Colony under the date of Mar. 25, 1633, but he removed to Marblehead and was taxed there in 1637-8, and in 1639 removed to the place that afterwards became Yarmouth, where he was Constable in 1660, and in 1662 a Deputy to the General Court. (Descendants of Richard Sears, 1890, p. 23 et seq.)

He was baptized in Horamonden, Kent, England, but hisriage and death is not seen. He took the Oath of Allegiance at Scituate, Feb. 1, 1638-9, had children baptized there in 1645, but is thought to have removed soon after to Maryland. His wife is thought to have been Dorothy Dunster, a niece of Pres. Dunster of Harvard College, but this is not proved. (Savage's Genealogical Dictionary; Willard Memoir, 1858, p. 98 et seq.)

340. JOSEPH HOWES.

(Savage's Genealogical Dictionary; Pope's Pioneers of Mass.; Otis' Barnstable Families 2-148; N. E. Register, 67-260.)
347. PENNINNA HOWES. She was born in England and probably died in Barnstable, Mass. She made a petition to the Court under date of Oct. 20, 1669. (Otis' Barnstable Families, 2-153; N. E. Register, 67-260.)
348. JOHN PEASE. He was baptized in Great Baddow, Essex, England, probably married in Salem, Mass., and he died in Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard. He came to this country in the ship "Francis" in 1634, and early in 1637 is found at Salem, but removed to Edgartown, 1644-46, and is later seen for a short time at Norwich, Conn., but returned to Edgartown, where he lived until his death. The only office he is known to have held was that of Constable in 1653. (Banks' History of Martha's Vineyard, 1911, 2-91 et seq.)
349. LUCY. First wife of John Pease. The place and date of her birth or death is not seen, but she was born before coming to this country, and it is likely she died in Edgartown. (Banks' History of Martha's Vineyard, 1911, 2-102.)
350. NICHOLAS NORTON. He was born in England, probably married in Weymouth, Mass., and he died in Edgartown. He first appears in Weymouth, in 1637 and it is likely came there in 1635, and he was Constable in 1657. He removed to Martha's Vineyard about 1659 and lived there until his death. His will was dated Apr. 17, 1690, and his death occurred shortly after. (Banks' History of Martha's Vineyard, 1911, 2-85 et seq.)
351. ELIZABETH. Wife of Nicholas Norton. She was born in England and she died in Edgartown, Mass. Her will was dated June 8, 1690, and proved on Oct. 8, 1690. (Banks' History of Martha's Vineyard, 1911, 2-89.)
366. HENRY HOWLAND. He was born in England, probably married in Plymouth, Mass., and he died in Duxbury. He was early of Plymouth, one statement being that he was there in 1624, but his name appears in a list of freemen under date of 1633. He was among the early settlers of Duxbury, being Constable there, as shown by a Court record of Jan. 5, 1635-6. He joined the Friends (Quakers) about 1657, and he and his wife afterwards suffered much on account of their religious opinions. In 1652 he was associated with others in the purchase of a large tract of land in Dartmouth and towards the latter part of his life he became a large purchaser of real estate. His will was dated Nov. 29, 1670, and the inventory of his estate was taken Jan. 14, 1670-1. (Savage's Genealogical Dictionary; Howland Genealogy, 1885, p. 61 et seq.; Duxbury Vital Records.)

367. MARY NEWLAND. She was born in England and she died in Duxbury, Mass. (Howland Genealogy, 1885, p. 68; Duxbury Vital Records.)
410. THOMAS FORD. He was born in England, married (1) in Bridport, Dorsetshire, and came to this country on the "Mary and John," which arrived May 30, 1630. He settled at Dorchester, Mass., but removed about 1636 to Windsor, Conn., where his first wife having died, he married Mrs. Ann Scott. Stiles says of him that he was "a man of good estate, great energy, and a devoted friend to the regicides, Goffe and Whalley." (Ancient Windsor, 1892.) He removed about 1672 to Northampton, Mass., where he died. (Savage's Gen. Dictionary.; Pope's Pioneers of Massachusetts.)
411. ELIZABETH COOKE. Wife of Thomas Ford. She was baptized in Bridport, Dorsetshire, England, and she died in Windsor, Conn. (Savage's Genealogical Dictionary; Church Records, Bridport, England.)
416. ELDER THOMAS WISWALL. He was born in England and came to New England with his wife in 1635, settling at Dorchester, where he was a Selectman in 1644, and also in 1652, but removed to Cambridge Village, now Newton, before 1656, where he was chosen Ruling Elder of the Church and ordained July 20, 1664, and where he lived until his death. He was a prominent citizen and a "useful man in every department of church, official and social life. (Savage's Gen. Dict.; Pope's Pioneers of Mass.; N. E. Register, 40-59; Jackson's Newton, 1854, p. 451.)
417. ELIZABETH. First wife of Elder Thomas Wiswall. She was born in England and probably died in Newton, Mass., but the place and date of her death is not seen. (Savage's Gen. Dict.; N. E. Register, 40-59.)
418. REV. JOHN OLIVER. He was born in England, married probably in Boston, Mass. and died in Boston. (N. E. Register, 19-100) "He was a skillful surveyor, yet took up the duty of a preacher, for success in which he entered the college, had his A. B. 1645, odd as such a course seems for a married man, and died deeply lamented." (Savage's Gen. Dict.) He was the seventh signer of the original roll of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, 1637, and was Junior Sergt. in 1638, and Senior Sergt. in 1639. (Hist. of Anc. & Hon. Art. Co., 1895, 1-28.) An epidemic "malignant fever" occurred in Boston in the spring of 1646, speaking of which Gov. Winthrop says: "It swept away some precious ones amongst us, especially one Mr. John Oliver, a gracious young man, not full thirty years of age, an expert soldier, an excellent surveyor of land, and one who, for the sweetness of his disposition and usefulness through a public spirit, was generally beloved, and greatly lamented." (Winthrop's Hist. of New England, 1853, 2-315.) Hull, in his Diary, says: "1646. Aprill 11, died Mr. John Oliver, one of choice parts, endued with variety of able gifts for the generation; but God took him away in youth, to the saddening of very many godly hearts and threatening of the rising generation. (Diary of John Hull, Coll. American Antiquarian Society, 3-172.)

419. ELIZABETH NEWGATE. Wife of Rev. John Oliver. She was born in England and died in Newton, Mass., having married for a second husband and as his second wife, March, 1649, Edward Jackson. (Savage's Gen. Dict.; Pope's Pioneers of Mass.; Jackson's Newton, 1854, p. 331.)

No date of his arrival in this country is seen, but he was admitted to the Dorchester Church Mar. 8, 1644-5, and lived in Dorchester until his death, July 28, 1696, according to the vital records, and August 23, 1696, aged 52, as by his gravestone. (N. E. Register, 4-169; 43-79; Dorchester Vital Recs.)
423. SARAH. Wife of Thomas Trott. She was born in England and died in Dorchester, Mass. (Dorchester Vital Records.)
424. BERNARD CAPEN. He was born in England, married there, came early to this country, settling in Dorchester, where he is first mentioned Aug. 5, 1633, and where he died. His gravestone is thought to be the oldest in New England. The record of his marriage says that it occurred "on munday, in whitson week," 1596, and he is said to have died at the age of 76. (Savage's Gen. Dict.; Pope's Pioneers of Mass.; N. E. Register, 2-80: 49-489; Hist. of Dorchester, 1859, p. 421.)

427. ANN. Wife of Dea. Samuel Bass. She was born in England and died in Braintree, Mass. (Braintree Vital Records.)
434. SERGT. RICHARD COLLIOUT. He was born in England, and it is quite likely married his first wife in Dorchester, Mass. There is no evidence of the precise time of his arrival in this country, but he was "doubtless a member of Rev. Mr. Warham's church before he was admitted as a freeman," Mar. 4, 1632-3. He is spoken of as a collector of furs in 1633. He was the twentieth signer on the original roll of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, joining it in 1637; was a Sergeant in the Pequot War, and accompanied Atherton's (1636) expedition to Narragansett. (Hist. And. & Hon. Art. Co., 1895, 1-42.) He was a Selectman of Dorchester in 1636-37, and 1641; and was a Deputy to the General Court in 1636-37 and 1655. He moved to Boston in 1659, and later went to reside on his Milton farm and appears as Trustee of Milton Church property in 1664, and an inhabitant of that town some years after, but he finally removed to Boston, living there until his death, which occurred at the age of 83, according to his gravestone in Copps Hill Burying Ground. (Savage's Genealogical Dict.; History of Dorchester, 1859, p. 46; Register, 1905, Mass. Soc. Colonial Dames.)

440. JOHN MAUDSLEY. This name is now Moseley. He was born in England, though the place and date of his first marriage is not seen, and he died in Dorchester. 446. FRANCIS HAMANT. This name is now usually Hammond. He was born in England, probably married in this country, and he died in Medfield, Mass. He was in Medfield previous to 1650 and probably came not long before that date. (Hammond Families, 1902, 1-421; Medfield Vital Records.)
447. SARAH. Wife of Francis Hamant. No record is seen of her birth, but she died in Medfield. (Medfield Vital Records.)
448. ELDER HENRY WITHINGTON. He was baptized in the parish of Leigh, Lancashire, England, came to this country with his second wife and four children, (two of them being by his first wife, Anne Leech, who was buried in Leigh, Sep. 26, 1621,) probably in the ship "James", arriving Aug. 16, 1635, and settled in Dorchester, where "he was one of the signers of the covenant by which the Dorchester church was founded (or reorganized in 1636), and was the first ruling elder of the church, continuing in that office for twenty-nine years until his death. He was one of the selectmen of Dorchester in 1636, and was otherwise prominent in the affairs of the town and church. Many records attest the fact that he was universally beloved, respected and trusted. Rev. Richard Mather called him 'Beloved Friend' and made him overseer of his will in 1664. Rev. Samuel Danforth said of him: 'A man that excelled in wisdom, meekness and goodness.'" (N. E. Register, 75-142.)
450. DEA. PHILIP ELIOT. He was baptized at Widford, Herfordshire, England, and was married at Nazeing or Little Hallingbury, Essex, Eng., the license being granted by the Bishop of London, Oct. 20, 1624. (Essex Institute Hist. Coll., 28-101.) He probably came to this country with his wife and children in the "Hopswell," Apr. 3, 1635. He settled in Roxbury, and was a Freeman May 25, 1636. He joined the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1638, was a Deacon of the Roxbury Church, and was a Deputy to the General Court 1654 to 1657. (Hist. Anc. & Hon. Art. Co., 1895, p. 59.) He was a brother of the Rev. John Eliot, the "Apostle to the Indians," whose statement regarding him in the Roxbury Church Record is as follows: "Philip Eliot he dyed about the 22^d of the 8^t month; 57. he was a man of peace, & very faithful, he was many years in the office of a Deakon w^h he discharged faithfully, in his latter years he was very lively usefull & active for God, & his cause. The Lord gave him so much acceptance in the hearts of the people y^t he dyed under many of the offices of trust y^t are usually put upon men of his rank. for besides his office of a Deakon, he was a Deputy to the Gen. He came to New England with his wife and some of his children in the ship "Truelove" in 1635, but removed soon to New Haven, where he signed the "Fundamentall Agreem^t" in 1639. From his will it would seem that his first wife (who was the mother of his son Daniel) had died in England and that it was his second wife who came with him in 1635. (Savage's Gen. Dict.; New Haven Colonial Records, 1857, 1-323.)

He remained at Braintree until his death, with the exception of the year 1642-3, which he passed as a missionary in Virginia. Johnson in his Wonder-Working Providence says of him: "The Reverend Mr. Tompson is a man abounding in zeal for the propagation of the Gospel, and of an ardent affection, insomuch that he is apt to forget himself in things that concern his own good. (Wonder-Working Providence, 1867, p. 161.) Gov. Winthrop speaks of him as "a very gracious, sincere man," and also "as a very holy man." (Winthrop's History of New England, 1853, 1-376, 390.) His first wife died while he was away in Virginia. He came to this country about 1635, and the first record seen of him is as one of the associates of William Lynch in the agreement for the settlement of Agawam (now Springfield, Mass.) under date of May 14, 1636, and he was allotted land on that date. He did not remain there very long, as on Jan. 2, 1637-8, his name appears on the Dorchester records, and he remained there until his death. He was made a Freeman, Mar. 14, 1638-9, and he and his wife became members of the Dorchester Church before November, 1639. "There can be no doubt that he was a man of integrity and above the average intelligence of his neighbors. He served the town in various important capacities, Constable 1641, Selectman 1645-47 and 1651, on committee to build the new meeting-house 1645, and in many other ways." (Increase Blake Anc. and Desc., 1896, p. 16.) He joined the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1646. "He was a very useful and prominent citizen." (Hist. Anc. & Hon. Art. Co., 1895, p. 156.) Nov. 23, 1656-7, he was chosen "Recorder for the towne of Dorchester" and at the same time chosen "clerk of the writts for the county of Suffolk." His great-grandson, James Blake, in his "Annals of the Town of Dorchester," which he kept up to the time of his death in 1750, says under the year 1663: "This year Died Mr. William Blake who had been Clerk of ye Writts for ye County of Suffolk, & Recorder for ye Town near 8 years. He was also Clerk of ye Training band." (Pope's Pioneers of Mass.; Increase Blake Anc. and Desc. 1896, p. 11 et seq.; Dorchester Vital Records.)

506. CAPT. JAMES SANDS. He was born in England, one account says in Reading, Berkshire, and undoubtedly married in this country, and he died in Block Island (New Shoreham), R. I. He was of Portsmouth, R. I., in 1643, but had been in the country earlier, and he settled in Block Island about 1661, and was Deputy from there in 1665.

He was prominent in the affairs of the Island, and in 1672 was foremost in presenting the petition to the General Assembly to have the Island incorporated under the name of New Shoreham, which petition was granted the chartered name being "New Shoreham, otherwise Block Island." His grandson, Rev. Samuel Niles, says of him: "He was a benefactor to the poor x x x and a promoter of religion in his benefactions to the minister they had there in his day, though not altogether so agreeable to him as might be desired, as being inclined to the Anabaptist persuasion. He devoted his house for the worship of God, where it was attended being Lord's day or Sabbath. Mr. Sands had a plentiful estate, and gave free entertainment to all gentlemen that came to the Island." (Austin's Genealogical Dictionary; Livermore's History of Block Island, 1877, p. 268.)

507. SARAH WALKER.

Wife of Capt. James Sands. She was born in England and died in Block Island (New Shoreham), R. I. Her grandson, Rev. Samuel Niles, describes her as "a gentlewoman of remarkable sobriety and piety, given also to hospitality. She was the only midwife and doctress on the island or rather a doctor, all her days, with very little, and with some and mostly no reward at all." (Austin's Genealogical Dictionary.)

508. REV. THOMAS THACHER. He was born in England, married his first wife in this country, probably in Duxbury, Mass., and he died in Boston. He came to this country, with his uncle, in the ship "James," arriving at Boston June 4, 1635. "For the purpose of continuing his studies, he entered the family of the Rev. Charles Chauncy, minister of Scituate, afterward President of Harvard College. Under the tuition of this eminent scholar, he became proficient not only in Latin and Greek, but also in Syriac and Hebrew. He was well skilled, we are told, in the arts, especially in logic, and understood mechanics, both in theory and practice; As was not uncommon at that time, he studied medicine as well as theology, and he gained a high reputation in both professions. He was the author of the first medical tract, or broadside, ever published in Massachusetts: "A brief Rule to guide the common People of New England how to order themselves and theirs in the Small Pox or Measles; printed in 1677, and he is said to have prepared a Hebrew lexicon." (History of the Old South Church, 1890, p. 124.) Jan. 2, 1644-5, he was ordained pastor of the Weymouth Church and continued as such for twenty years, before resigning his charge, and he then removed to Boston, where "he became a member of the First Church Aug. 4, 1667, and preached occasionally in the town and elsewhere, but for the most part he was engaged as a practising physician." (Ibid., p. 125.) A schism which had taken place in the First Church, owing to the refusal to ratify the "Half Way Covenant," caused the withdrawal of some of its members to constitute the Third or South Church, and Mr. Thacher was asked to accept the pastorate, which he did and was ordained Feb. 16, 1669-70, and he continued as such until his death: "He was among the most popular preachers in the Colony: His labours, both in Weymouth and in Boston, were crowned with signal success, each of the churches having greatly increased in both numbers and graces, while under his care." (Savage's Genealogical Dictionary; Pope's Pioneers of Mass.; N. E. Register, 37-12; History of Old South Church, 1890, 1-123; Sprague's Annals of the American Pulpit, 1859, 1-126.)

510. REV. JOHN CXENBRIDGE. He was born in Daventry, Northamptonshire, England, married in England, and he died in Boston, Mass. He was a graduate of Oxford, B. A. 1628, M. A. 1631, and continued there as a tutor for some time, but on account of disagreement with the college authorities he was "distutored" in 1634, and he then began to preach. His wife not being in good health he went to Bermuda, where he preached a few years, and then returned to England, where he ministered in several places, and in April, 1652, he was made fellow of Eton College. His wife, who had become a confirmed invalid, died Apr. 25, 1656, and he soon after married for a second wife "a religious virgin named Frances, the only daughter of Hezekiah Woodward, the schismatical vicar of Bray, near Windsor". She died in childbed in the first year of their marriage, leaving a child who became the wife of the Rev. Peter Thacher. (The mother having died in England, her name does not appear on the charts.) After the Restoration in 1660, he ceased to enjoy his fellowship, and while preaching at Berwick on Tweed he was ejected by the "Act of Conformity" in 1662. He went to the West Indies and Barbadoes, but in 1669 removed to New England, and he was installed as a colleague in the First Church, Boston, with the Rev. James Allen, Apr. 10, 1670. Of his preaching and literary abilities the Rev. Mr. Emerson says: "He is reckoned by the historians of Boston among the most elegant writers as well as eloquent preachers of his time: Like his great and good predecessors, he was sincerely attached to the Congregational interest; and the piety which he cherished at heart exhibited itself in his habitual conversation." (Emerson's Historical Sketch of First Church, 1812, p. 125.) He was stricken with apoplexy at Thursday lecture and died five days after and was buried "with great solemnity in Cotton's tomb in the chapel Burying Ground." (Savage's Genealogical Dictionary; Ellis' History of First Church, Boston, 1881, p. 125 et seq.; The Oxenbridges, 1860, p. 6 et seq.; N. E. Register, 44-85; 49-373.)

588. STEPHEN HOPKINS. He was born in England, married there, and he died in Plymouth, Mass. He came on the "Mayflower" in 1620, with a second wife and his family, and was one of the signers of the "Immortal Compact" at "Cap-Codd y^e 11 of November, 1620." He was chosen one of the Council Jan. 1, 1632-3, and on Jan. 1, 1633-4, he was chosen an Assistant, also Jan. 1, 1634-5 and Jan. 5, 1635-6, and he was a member of many committees. His will was dated June 6, 1644, and the inventory of his estate was taken July 17, 1644. The name of his first wife is not known. (Savage's Genealogical Dictionary; Pope's Pioneers of Mass.; Library of Cape Cod History and Genealogy, No. 37, p. 1 et seq.; Mayflower Descendant, 2-12.)

630. ELDER WILLIAM BREWSTER. He was born in England, married there, and he died in Plymouth, Mass. He came to Plymouth in the historic "Mayflower" and was the fourth in order in the signing of the "Immortal Compact." Gov. William Bradford in his history "Of Plimouth Plantation" commences his account of the year 1643 by speaking of the great sadness that had come through the death of "their Reve^d Elder and my dear & loving friend Mr. William Brewster," and gives a resume of his life, stating that he was educated some time at Cambridge in Latin and Greek; was private secretary to Davison when he was Secretary of State, who "trusted him above all other that were about him;" accompanied the Secretary on a mission to the Low Countries; on his return to England went back to Scrooby, where he was postmaster, and where the Pilgrim Church met in his house generally and where he entertained them. He was a leader in the removal to Holland and was "y^e cheefe of those that were taken at Boston and suffered y^e greatest loss." After he got to Holland he endured much hardship on account of his former life being "not so fitt for some employments as others were," but later by teaching and the use of his printing press he was enabled to provide for himself and others. "But now removing into this countrie, all these things were laid aside againe, and a new course of living must be framed unto; in which he was no way unwilling to take his parte, and to bear his burthen with y^e rest, living many times without bread, or corne, many months together, having many times nothing but fish, and often wanting that also; and drunke nothing but water for many years together, yea, till within 5, or 6. years of his death. And beside y^t, he would labour with his hands in y^e feilds as long as he was able; yet when the church had no other minister, he taught twice every Saboth, and y^t both powerfully and profitably, to y^e great contentment of y^e hearers, and their comfortable edification; yea, many were brought to God by his ministrie. x x x For his personall abilities, he was qualified above many; he was wise and discrete and well spoken, x x x very sociable & pleasante amongst his freinds, of an humble and modest mind, of a peaceful disposition. He was tender harted, and compassionate of such as were in miserie. x x x For y^e governments of y^e church, (which was most proper to his office,) he was carfull to preserve good order in y^e same, and to preserve puritie, both in y^e doctrine & communion of y^e same; and to suppress any error or contention that might begin to rise up amongst them; and accordingly God gave good success to his indeavors herein all his days, and he saw y^e fruite of his labours in that behalf." (Bradford's of Plymouth Plantation, 1898, p. 487 et seq.) He had early removed from Plymouth to Duxbury, and lived there until his death. He left a library of about 400 volumes, some 60 odd being in Latin. (Savage's Genealogical Dictionary; Pope's Pioneers of Mass.; Brewster Genealogy, 1908, 1-3 et seq.; N. E. Register, 53-109.)

He kept his house, or went very little abroad, for the space of three years before he died, and was a lively pattern of old age spoken of in Eccles.
